METHODS AND APPARATUS TO PROTECT A PROTOCOL INTERFACE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods and apparatus to protect a protocol interface are described herein. In an example method, a driver request is received during an operation phase of firmware in a processor system. The driver request may be identified as a request associated with a violating condition of the protocol interface. Accordingly, the driver request is rejected.